FEATURING

BY AMY CARMICHAEL

For those unfamiliar with Amy Carmichael she was a missionary in India in the early 1900's, and you will be in for the biggest treat if you will spend some of this next year reading about her.

Elisabeth Elliot wrote an extensive book on her life entitled A Chance to Die.

Christian Heroes Then and Now series by the Benge's has a shorter biography on her life.

And there is a sermon series devoted to missionary biographies by Pastor Stephen Davey available through Wisdom International (app or Website) that is excellent.

Amy Carmichael authored a number of books herself.

One of them being a little booklet entitled "If" which examines pride, selfishness, or cowardice in light of the love of Christ on Calvary.

These are brief meditations, each starts with "If .." followed by a very human response and concludes with "then I know nothing of Calvary love."

The booklet is worth owning and reading her introduction and the many "If's" I could not fit on this calendar.

These are challenging thoughts, not intended to discourage, but rather to turn our thoughts and affections to knowing Christ more. I pray 2021 is a year of each of us knowing more of Calvary love.
